

New Year 2025 Edition

ICFF NEWSLETTER

Welcome to 2025 with the ICFF!

As we step into a new year filled with opportunities, the Institute of Customs and Freight Forwarding (ICFF) is excited to welcome our valued members and industry professionals to an exceptional 2025. This year, we are embarking on a crucial mission—to amplify the awareness and importance of professional designations within the Freight & Customs industry.

Driving Industry Recognition – Join Us on the Road!

We are thrilled to announce that the ICFF will be hitting the road with a series of exciting roadshows across Gauteng, KwaZulu-Natal, and Cape Town.

These in-person engagements will provide an excellent platform for us to connect with our members and interested industry professionals, discuss the value of professional designations, and explore how these qualifications can uplift both individuals and the industry as a whole.

Be Part of the Change – Join an ICFF Committee

Our journey to elevate industry standards requires dedicated professionals who share our vision. If you are passionate about the growth and professionalism of the Freight & Customs sector, we invite you to join one of our ICFF committees. Help us drive this essential initiative forward and make a lasting impact in our industry. For more details, please reach out to us—we would love to have you on board!

Introducing Insightful Industry Workshops

In response to industry needs, we have revamped our webinars into dynamic, interactive workshops featuring subject matter experts who will share the latest developments in our field. These workshops will provide members with the opportunity to engage in insightful discussions, explore innovative ideas, and participate in healthy debates on the industry's role in strengthening South Africa's economy. We encourage all members to take advantage of these sessions to stay ahead in an ever-evolving industry.

Your Path to Professional Recognition Starts Here

Professional designations are a mark of credibility and excellence in our industry. The ICFF is committed to supporting you on this journey. Whether you are looking to apply for a designation or seeking guidance on the process, we are here to assist you every step of the way. Reach out to us, and let us help you advance your career with confidence.

Here's to a remarkable 2025—filled with growth, learning, and industry excellence!

Warm regards,
The ICFF Team
